oten described as a felium of pressue a squeezing ripping of burning. There is continuou different times. At times the pain may be so high in the chest and at the base of the neck that it give a creation of strangling or sufficiently. For the rea on he condition was originally described as an angina.

cating For the real on ne cumation was originally described as an angina.

If the victim stands still and would are further effort the discomfort or pain goes away in a minute or two. The suff rer finds hat if he pre-ses forward the discoursort increases pethaps extending to the neck or jaw and to one or the other arm if it affects an arm it is usually the left one following along the increase Some times numbness may be obe ved in the furgers or arm.

Not every case is as mild as this in the severe form the pain is more settle and ubusiles more stocks it may be so severe as to produce agonizing discomfort. The victim becomes stiff and there is a frightened expression of the fac. The skin is pale and molet. The administration of an opiate may be needed to control the terrible symptoms.

symptoms

Let me advice all who have this trouble to avoid a remious ever case fatigue and excessive evertion of any kind Of course all persons with angina perious should be under medical care. The doctor will be pressers, treatment under medical care the dector will could be the necessary treatment and prescribe the needed medicine Exercise is beneficial but the exact type and amount of exercise can only be determined by study of the leafthful care.

the individual case
May I add this word? Too persons are secretly worried about heart disease. They think they have it yet hesitale to seek medihave it yet hesitale to seek medical advice Really this is a great pity if you really have it you need advice and he following it may he out your expectance. On the other hand nine times out of iff there is no such decision. How happy you will be to be fold you are free from the dread ailment.

All of which brings up the question of which brings up the question of which hunters do not like sew field ciothing especially duck and can as coats Two seasons are comfort and cannouflige.

Manufacturers try hard to make their outdoor gymneats thand with the fall hunting scene but it requires a lot of weather beating on the back of the weater before this color is achieved. There is a newness some call it shine about a coat just out of the store which worses the duck bun er. This een be eliminated by hanging the new clothes outside for a week or so. Most men you meet in the blinds or affield wear fattered hunting coats that only a bird dog could love.
